

Stavros Amoiras, email: amoiras@enateam.gr

Stavros Amoiras is an economist from the University of Macedonia and has an MSc in "Innovation, Technology and Business Management" from the Department of Production Engineering & Management of the Democritus University of Thrace.

He has 25 years of studies experience as he has prepared numerous studies in the context of Development Laws, Co-financed and Operational Programs.

He is also:

- Co-founder and Head of Strategic Planning and Development of ena Development Consultants.
- Responsible for Planning, Management and Development of Collaborative Formation of Innovation and Technology eMT cluster.
- Business Development Manager at Thinc "Business Incubator of D.U.Th."
- Certified educator of Vocational Training, with a specialization in business management, mentoring, and start-up founding