

Zisis Mamouris, email: zmamur@bio.uth.gr

Zisis Mamouris is Professor of Population Genetics at the Department of Biochemistry and Biotechnology of the University of Thessaly. He served as Rector of the University from September 2018 to May 2023, in a very important period for its development.

In addition to his academic work, he assumed important administrative responsibilities since 2006, both within the University as well as in various scientific councils (Regional Council for Research and Innovation and National Sectoral Scientific Council of the GSRI).

He has participated in dozens of research projects with corresponding publications in international journals and academic works.