

Freideriki Kotarela, email: fkotarel@ee.duth.gr

Freideriki Kotarela received the Dipl. Eng. in Environmental Engineering from Democritus University of Thrace in 2017 and the MSc from Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering from Democritus University of Thrace in 2020.

She is currently working towards her PhD in Power Electronics in Renewable Energy Systems the Department of Electrical and Computer Engineering. Her research interests include zero energy buildings, power electronics, renewable energy and energy storage systems and legislature for renewable energy systems.

Freideriki Kotarela is an author of 10 research and technical papers that have been published in high-level journals. Also, she is a co-author of a scientific book. Last, she has been involved in 8 European and national-funded research projects, as well as in Industrial research projects.